COURSE DESCRIPTION

The goal of this course is to provide you with a solid understanding of the complexities of international human resource management (IHRM). We will survey the strategic and cultural context of IHRM, the functional aspects of IHRM, and identify some of the challenges of managing employees around the globe.

The class consists of lectures, case analysis, class discussions, presentations, and exercises. Because this course is heavily case-based, it is essential that students prepare in advance for the classes and engage in class discussion. You will be graded based on your performance on class participation, individual presentation, exams, and group presentations.

COURSE MATERIALS

Required Text Books:

ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

- Class Participation 10%
- Group Discussion Summary 15%
- Weekly Quiz 15%
- Midterm Exam 30%
- Group Project and Presentation 30%
Class Participation. This course requires active participation in classes. The class participation will include your attendance and your contributions to the intellectual life of the classroom, demonstrated by your understanding of the assigned readings, your active involvement in class activities, and the meaningful questions or comments you raise during lectures and discussions.

Each student is allowed to miss no more than TWO classes in the semester and quizzes will not be counted into the grades for these two classes. However, students who miss two classes will not be eligible to drop the two lowest quiz scores. Every additional absence leads to 3 points cut in the final grade. In order to receive credits for this course, students are not allowed to miss more than four classes under any circumstances.

If a student has never missed a class (including the final presentations) throughout the semester they will be eligible to drop the two lowest quiz scores. If a student misses only one class, they will only be eligible to drop the lowest quiz score.

Students are expected to be punctual and engage in respectful interactions with each other. Any behaviors that would distract others in the classroom such as talking on the phone, texting, using the internet for things irrelevant to the course, and emailing are prohibited. Students’ grades on class participation may be negatively affected if they engage in these distractive behaviors.

Group Discussion and Summary. Every week, there will be group discussion about a selected business case and related discussion questions. To facilitate constructive and meaningful discussion, each group will be asked to provide a short summary of discussion. After group discussion is done, each group will be given 20 minutes to summarize their discussion and highlight main conclusions. Submission of the summary will be done via Compass. Grading of discussion summary will be done on a pass-or-fail basis.

After the first class of the semester, the instructor will assign each student to a discussion group. Each group will consist of 3 or 4 students. Students will remain with the same group members throughout the semester and also for the final group project. Group assignment will be done in a way to maximize diversity of group members.

Weekly Quiz. In every teaching session you will need to complete a short quiz (5-10 minutes) on your readings. The quiz includes five questions in the format of the true/false, multiple-choice or filling in the blanks. Each quiz will deal with the chapter(s), articles and cases that I have assigned for that class session. I may administer a quiz at the beginning, middle or end of class. There are NO make-up quizzes.

Midterm Exam (subject to change). This will cover the readings, cases, and information contained in lectures prior to the exam. The test will be a take-home exam, and it is open book and open notes. You may not consult your colleagues.
for answers. The exam will include a few essay questions and one case analysis.

Due Date: Friday, March 16, 2018 at 12:00 AM.

Not submitting your mid-term exam on time will result in a 20% deduction from the mid-term grade for each day late.

Submission via Compass is required. Students should submit their answers via Compass. If technical problems occur students should send their answers as an attachment in Word format to my email listed at the beginning of the syllabus by the due date.

Final Group Project and Presentation. Toward the end of the semester, each group is required to write and present a strategic HRM report for their chosen country. To write the report, imagine that you are senior HR executives of a consumer-product company from your home country that considers doing businesses abroad. First, you will need to pick a target country to enter. Then, as senior HR executives, you are required to conduct research about the country and make recommendations to the CEO about how the company shall proceed.

In the report, explain important issues of the country such as the following:

- Population size and composition
- Economic development
- Political situations
- Language issues
- Religion
- Ethnic groups
- Key characteristics of the country’s culture
- Size of labor force
- Labor market participation rates (e.g., men versus women)
- Human capital development
- Labor standards and regulations—local, regional, and institutional
- Workplace cultures
- Globalization

The above list is far from complete, and you are encouraged to consider other important issues not included in the list. Based on your group’s research on the above and other issues, develop an IHRM plan for the company’s venture into the country. Consider the following issues:

- Mode of international investment (green-field or brown-field investment, mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, or international alliances)
- Mode of control (e.g., centralized versus local autonomy)
- Strategies for legal compliance
- Staffing (e.g., sending home-country employees or hiring talents in the
The report should review relevant literatures, conduct in-depth analyses, report findings and recommendations. Students are encouraged to go beyond what they have already learned in class. That is, they should not just repeat course materials. Instead, students are expected to conduct original research and present new and fresh information.

Refer to the template provided below for the format of the report. Students can modify the template if necessary. Maximum 12 pages, double spaced, in Times New Romans 12-point font, with margins of 1 inch.

Preliminary outline of the group project is due on November 8, 2018, Thursday at 11 am.

The final project report is due on December 10, 2018, Monday at 5 pm

Submission via Compass is required for paper submission. If technical problems occur students should send their answers as an attachment in word/or PDF format to my email listed at the beginning of the syllabus by the due date. Not submitting your paper on time will result in a 20% deduction from the paper grade for each day late.

Presentation. Each group will make a 20-minute presentation to the class about their target country. When presenting, it is recommended that each of the group members present some parts of the work.

Students should make sure to properly reference all materials used to construct your points. Within groups, peers will evaluate group-member contributions. Within the class, those listening to presentations (meaning the instructor and all of the students) will evaluate the quality of the presentation. It is presentation only; no written paper is required for group presentation.

The group leader should send the final version of the group’s PPT to the instructor no later than 12 pm, December 5, 2018.
