

LER 590 CER

Comparative Employment Relations Systems

Fall 2019

Tuesday 11 AM – 1:50 PM

Professor: Eunmi Mun

Office: LER 213

Email: eunmimun@illinois.edu

Office hours: by appointment or just stop by.

This course examines employment systems in selected developed, newly industrialized, and developing economies. We will discuss how distinctive labor market institutions emerged in the context of economic development and evolved through interactions with the global economy. Topics include management-labor relations, and the roles of firms, national governments, and international organizations in shaping employment systems. Emphasis will be placed on the analytical tools needed to make multi-country comparisons, to link theory and practice, and to understand the reasons for major changes in the nature of employment relations.

GOALS OF THE COURSE:

- To analyze how institutional arrangements are different across countries and why such differences emerge
- To problematize the underlying assumption that there is a shared path of capitalist development of employment relations
- To analyze the effects of globalization on local employment relations
- To understand future trends in the employment

COURSE EVALUATION:

- Attendance and participation: 20%
- Mid-term exam: 20%
- Group project: 40% (including group presentation and final report)
- Group case discussion: 10%
- Individual presentations: 10%

REQUIRED TEXT:

Greg J. Bamber, Russell D. Lansbury, Nick Wailes, and Chris F. Wright. 2014.
International & Comparative Employment Relations (6th edition). Sage publications.

All readings listed in this syllabus (except for the chapters from the textbook) are available online for download or purchase. I may also post additional materials during the semester when there are new developments of interest to relevant topics. It is your responsibility to check course website regularly. I also encourage students to suggest items that may be of interest to the class.

ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

Attendance and Participation (20%)

Class discussion is a critical ingredient in your learning for this course, for which we all bear collective responsibility. Class participation provides an opportunity to develop oral communication skills, to present your ideas concisely and persuasively, and to respond effectively to the comments of others. While I will lead class discussions, I do not intend to subject you to three hours of intense lecturing each week, but rather encourage you to offer insights and thoughts on the material assigned.

Most issues, cases and problems do not have one “right” answer, though some answers are more correct than others. Consequently, being “right” or “wrong” should not be your concern when participating. I am interested in your point of view and, if the consensus differs from your viewpoint, that in no way diminishes the value of your comments. Critically listen to the arguments of your fellow students and if you disagree, speak and explain how and why your viewpoint differs. In general, I will assess class participation based on the quality of your contributions in class, and the professionalism of your conduct (attendance, punctuality, preparedness, and showing respect to all section members and their class contributions). The quality and frequency of contributions depend on a number of issues, such as one’s ability to draw on course materials productively, to advance or sharpen in-class discussion and debate, and to use logic, precision, and evidence in making arguments. Therefore, speaking too much without adding value will be as detrimental to your grade as not speaking at all, and behaving in a disruptive manner will be most detrimental to your grade.

Please do not confuse attendance with participation. While on-time attendance is important, active participation in the class discussion is evaluated separately.

The breakdown for the grade is as follows:

Attendance (10 points): Each student is allowed to miss no more than ONE class in the semester for any reason (sickness, interview, etc.). No excuse is needed but I appreciate an email notice. For any additional class you miss I will deduct 1.5 points from your final grade. Any tardiness/leaving class early will count as missing half a class.

Participation (10 points): I encourage students to actively participate in class discussion. A full credit will be awarded to students who make a contribution that moves the discussion forward in an insightful way. Students who miss class without a valid excuse or behave in a disruptive way will receive “zero” points. If you have concerns about your ability to participate during class discussions, or are unaccustomed to participating in class, please contact me immediately. I can help you to improve your ability to participate, but only if you contact me early in the course for assistance.

Mid-term Exam (20%)

I will give you instructions in class.

Group Project (40%)

I will assign students to small groups in the second week of class. As a group, you will work on a group project as well as group discussion. For the group project, I ask each group to pick one of the countries that we will discuss between week 9 and week 13 and investigate into employment relations systems of the country. Based on your research, think about what will be most important regulatory issues to consider if a US (or any other national) company wants to do business in the country. In your presentation, you need to provide a thoughtful analysis of the challenges a foreign company needs to be aware of before it enters the country of your choosing, and suggest practical HR strategies to overcome those challenges.

At the end of the semester, each group will submit a report based on their analysis.

The breakdown for the group project grade is as follows:

Group presentation (20 points): Each group will make a presentation in the week when their chosen country is discussed. After my lecture, I will give 20-30 minutes to the presenting group to present their materials (and then, a designated discussion group will be in charge of leading the discussion). Since this is a group project, it is important that all team members participate. I encourage the presenting group to come see me in advance to discuss their plan.

Group final report (20 points): Please write no more than 20 pages in length, double-spaced, in 12-point font, and with margins of 1 inch.

I would like to emphasize that group projects are wonderful opportunities for you to develop your people skills. You will be working with others all the time in the workplace, and as an HR professional, you will need more people skills than others. In the final class, I will ask you to evaluate your own and other members' contribution to the group work. So, try to be a responsible and friendly team member.

Group Case Discussion (10%)

Each week, there is a case reading. I will lead the case discussion in the weeks before the mid-term exam. Starting from Week 9, I ask students to work as a group to briefly analyze the case and lead the discussion in class. More detailed instructions will be given in class.

Individual Presentations (10%)

I intend to give enough opportunities for students to develop their presentation skills. Unlike group presentations for which students have to work together, individual presentations are under a complete control of individual students, offering them a great opportunity to experiment on new styles of public speaking and test innovative methods of delivering materials. In Week 7, I will set the class time for individual presentations only. For this assignment, which I call “employment issues in the headlines,” students freely choose one of the three countries we will have covered by then, find an article that discusses a current employment issue in the country, and make a presentation on it. After the mid-term exam, we plan to cover 5 additional countries, starting from Week 9. Each week (from Week 9 to Week 13), I ask all students, who are not involved in any group-based work, to make individual presentations on “employment issues in the headlines” from the country of the week. In total, I expect student to make four individual presentations: one in Week 7 and the rest between Week 9 and Week 13.

Grading Scale

|    |           |
|----|-----------|
| A+ | 97-100%   |
| A  | 93-96.9%  |
| A- | 90-92.9%  |
| B+ | 87-89.9%  |
| B  | 83-86.9%  |
| B- | 80-82.9%  |
| C+ | 77-79.9%  |
| C  | 73-76.9%  |
| C- | 70-72.9%  |
| D+ | 67-69.9%  |
| D  | 63-66.9%  |
| D- | 60-62.9%  |
| F  | Below 60% |

OTHER THINGS OF WHICH YOU SHOULD BE AWARE

The following lists some procedural items that are in your best individual interest and in the interest of the class as a whole. Please take this information into account. Your consideration will help make the course more worthwhile—and fun—to all participants!

Cell phones and electronics should be turned off at all times
(Please talk to me if you need an exception to this rule).

Absence Policy

If you miss class, it is your responsibility to find out from your classmates what was covered, and to obtain copies of any handouts and/or assignments. Make-up exams will be given only if arranged well in advance, and if I believe that your situation warrants it. You are more likely to gain my sympathy if you contact me as soon as possible to let me know about catastrophic or unexpected events, instead of just not showing up.

Lateness and Courtesy

Arriving late or leaving early can be disruptive, particularly given the importance of student participation and in-class discussion in this course. Such behavior is also discourteous to the class when it makes it necessary to repeat material. Therefore, please come to class on time, and, if you must arrive late or leave early for a particular session, please let me know in advance.

Ethical Behavior

Cheating or other breaches of ethical behavior will not be tolerated. I do not wish to have to act on any unethical case. Nevertheless it is in the best interest of the class that such offenses not to be allowed to interfere with the learning process. University provisions for the punishment of unethical behavior are such that a guilty student may fail the course, be brought before the Disciplinary Committee, or be expelled.

Enrollment in this course indicates you have read and accepted the terms of this course outline.

COURSE SCHEDULE

Week 1 (Aug 27) Introduction

Introduction to the course

Week 2 (Sept 3) How to study employment relations from a comparative perspective

Chapter 1: Introduction in ICER.

- Meet the group members and select a country to work on

Week 3 (Sept 10) Labor standards in the global market

Richard Locke. 2013. The Promise and Limits of Private Power: Promoting Labor Standards in a Global Economy. Cambridge University Press. Chapters 1 and 3.

Case: Stephen J. Frenkel and Duncan Scott. 2001. “Compliance, Collaboration, and Codes of Labor Practice: The adidas Connection.” California Management Review.

Week 4 (Sept 17) Anglo-American LME: “Employment at will” in the US

Chapter 3 in ICER.

Peter Cappelli. 1999. The New Deal at Work: Managing the Market-Driven Workplace. Boston: Harvard Business School Press. pp. 18-37.

PBS Frontline “The Pension Gamble” (<https://www.pbs.org/wgbh/frontline/film/the-pension-gamble/>)

Week 5 (Sept 24) Asian CME: Lifetime employment in Japan

Chapter 10 in ICER.

Chiaki Moriguchi and Hiroshi Ono. 2003. “Japanese Lifetime Employment: A Century’s Perspective.” In Institutional Change in Japan: Why It Happens, Why It Doesn’t.

Case: Boris Groysberg et al. 2018. “Womenomics in Japan.” Harvard Business School Case 9-417-002.

Week 6 (Oct 1) European CME: Co-determination in Germany

Chapter 8 in ICER.

Joel Rogers and Wolfgang Streeck. 1994. "Workplace Representation Overseas: The Works Councils Story," in Working Under Different Rules, ed. by Richard Freeman, New York: Russell Sage Foundation. (READ pp. 97-117)

Case: Matthew Weinzierl, Katrina Flanagan, and Alastair Su. 2015. "Immigration Policy in Germany." Harvard Business School Case 9-715-029.

Week 7 (Oct 8) Labor issue in the headlines (US, Japan, and Germany)
Individual presentations

Week 8 (Oct 15) MID-TERM EXAM

Week 9 (Oct 22) UK

Chapter 2 in ICER.

Case: Laura Alfaro et al. 2016. "Brexit." Harvard Business School Case 9-717-028.

Week 10 (Oct 29) Denmark

Chapter 9 in ICER.

Case: Ton Wilthagen. 2011. "Flexicurity: Riding Into the Future." IESE-INSIGHT MAGAGINE.

Week 11 (Nov 5) France

Chapter 7 in ICER.

Case: Morten Bennedsen. 2017. "To Reduce Unemployment, French President Macron Reforms the Labour Market." INSEAD case IN1452.

Week 12 (Nov 12) China

Chapter 12 in ICER.

Case: Yasheng Huang and Eric Thun. 2002. “Shanghai Volkswagen: Facing a New Era.”
Harvard Business School Case 9-700-001.

Week 13 (Nov 19) India

Chapter 13 in ICER.

Case: Debi S. Saini. 2016. “A Popular HR Chief Burned to Death: People Management Dynamics at the Indian Subsidiary of Suzuki LTD.” Asian Case Research Centre. University of Hong Kong.

Week 14 (Nov 26) Happy Thanksgiving!

Week 15 (Dec 3) Class Recap

Peer evaluation & Course evaluation

Week 16 (Dec 10) Final Paper Due